Australian Premium White (APW) wheat

Australian Premium White (APW) wheat is Australia’s leading export class of wheat comprising, on average, one third of the Australian crop. Its superior quality makes APW ideal for the production of a variety of noodles, breads and also steamed buns.

Meet your Aussie APW producer, David Jenkinson

David Jenkinson has spent the past 30 years honing his grain growing skills in the beautiful Avon Valley region of Western Australia. He derives great pride from the fact grains produced by his family are consumed across the world.
