GRDC CROP PROTECTION PRODUCT REGISTRATION

Investment decision making framework

- 2. There is an established path to market
- 3. The frequency, incidence, and/or severity of the need is significant
- 4. The proposed solution shouldn't present significant regulatory and
- market risks to the Australian grains industry
- 5. The proposed solution needs to be regulatory/technically feasible
- 6. Level of potential co-investment by registrant(s).

YES

GRDC may choose to invest

Typical scope of GRDC co-investment is to support studies for:

- grain and forage residues
- crop safety
- efficacy.

Only to the extent that is required to support the registration or label extension of compounds that are already available in the Australian marketplace. GRDC will not consider investing
